Looking back and looking forward

We are at a point where we remember the old year and look forward to the new. One helpful lesson we learn in life is that we need to have good closure for our endings in order to have a good start in our new beginnings. We have the present and future only because we have the past so remembering yesterday is a requirement for a better tomorrow. We need to look back on what we did so that we can look forward to the coming year and do a better job in 2007.

As one body of Christ, we, Moore's Chapel, experienced many things in the year 2006. Moore's Chapel has a very full and well rounded church life as we seek to serve Jesus Christ in every possible way: through Worship, Christian education for all ages, Bible studies, and in Mission to help others. Finally, we have faith in the future that God is going to do great things at Moore's Chapel and so we have embarked upon an ambitious building project.

In terms of worship, our strength is that we can provide two different styles of services. We are glad that we can provide a contemporary and a traditional service every Sunday so people can choose and praise God in their own way. Sunday worship attendance is steady. Moore's Chapel has various types of worship through dance, video clips, and art. Worship continues to be lively and fresh; People come each Sunday with expectations of reviving fellowship and inspirational worship. Our praise band, senior choir, and the contributions of many, many lay people add so much to our worship services. The liturgy of Moore's Chapel is truly the "work of the people."

Our youth group steadily grew in the year 2006. Through GAS Station, Bible studies, Quest, and other various programs and activities, the youth improved in quality and quantity. Under the leadership of Jen Arter, the youth experienced many activities and programs, all to nurture the growth of our youth's spiritual lives, as well as have fun. The youth group has the full support of the congregation as they build a bright future for Moore's Chapel. The youth planned and delivered a service (Youth Sunday) by themselves, showing great capability and their love for God.

Vacation Bible School was held from July 30-Aug 4th 2006. This year's theme was "Trading Places." There were classes for ages 2- 14 and an average of 35 students and 20 volunteers were present each night. We ended the week with a closing program where the children presented what they had learned. The program was followed by a carnival. Eighty people attended the carnival; those that came had a great time together. During September 2006 we began the Disciple 1 and 3 Bible studies, led by Ginny Lehr and me. These courses are not designed to focus on the Bible itself, but to focus on spiritual transformation in our daily lives. The feedback (from about 23 people who are participating) has been positive, and we will continue to work at understanding the word of God and applying His Word into our daily lives.

Once again, we did a great job under the guidance of the Evangelism/Mission Committee. Through the experience of door-to-door missions, we evangelized and introduced our church to our community. There were many mission moments during the church services that introduced us to new opportunities in serving. From April 3rd to the 8th 2006, nine people from the Moore's Chapel's family went down for another missions trip to Mississippi. The mission trips for Hurricane Katrina victims are not a one-time thing; the relationship will be continuous. I believe it is a good example of doing missions with consistency and integrity.

In the year 2006, several good friends have gone to be with the Lord: Maurine Ham, Flo Dixon, Rosalie Young, and Roger Mendenhall. While we celebrate their journey to heaven, the deaths of many of our friends have deprived us of the opportunity to do something more for them, so it is with grateful hearts we turn to God and to one another to find comfort and hope even in the midst of our loss. Throughout this experience, we bonded together spiritually. We reconfirmed that we are one family under God's love and grace.

Just as life and death are a part of the circle of life, Moore's Chapel has lost loved ones, but also gained new life. Along with the sorrow of loss comes the brightness of future Christians that now shine in our church. This spring, eleven youth celebrated completing confirmation class and testified to their newfound devotion to God. There were also marriages that marked a fresh beginning surrounded by God's love for the newlyweds – Montanna and Dan, and Yvonne and Mark. Many new college students – Michael, Megan, Courtney, Mallory, Matthew, and Mikey – from Moore's Chapel are soon-to-be teachers, artists, pastors, musicians, pharmacists, photographers, and much more, who will grow and share God's love and grace to the world.

2006 has been a year of much activity for the Moore's Chapel building committee. In February, we had a building pledge night complete with a meal and speaker that was open to the entire congregation. The results of these events were fantastic as almost $ 300,000 was pledged over a three-year period. On December 9th, members of the building committee made a presentation to a group of conference officials outlining our plans and visions for the building project. The officials quickly approved our plans. The schedule for 2007 is as follows:

groundbreaking will begin in late March or April, completion of the project could occur in as little as nine months, and we may possibly be able to use the building by Christmas, if God wills it and the weather cooperates. Please continue to pray for this project, continue to volunteer your time and talents, and most of all, let's continue to have faith in our Lord, Jesus Christ, whom through all things are possible!

When we reflect on this year, most of all we have learned that God has been with us during 2006. We laughed together, cried together, shared our burdens of life together, prayed with each other, grew together, and walked together in the journey of faith. We shared food and fellowship, praised and prayed together with one voice, accomplished many missions that God wanted us to do, and shared ministry with open minds and hearts. As we've witnessed, God has poured out so many blessings on Moore's Chapel. We should not be satisfied and contented with what we did or accomplished but continually and faithfully run the race of faith. As a pastor, I am very happy to serve God with you, and look forward to doing an even better job for the Kingdom of God in the year 2007.

In Christ's Love,

Rev. KyungMo Koo

Fundraising news

by Jane Bellmyer

“Life is short...eat dessert first” –author unknown

Imagine what your mother would say. You go out to eat and the only thing on the menu is cheesecake, chocolate and parfait.

Who doesn't love dessert? In my search for different kinds of fundraisers, I arrived at the concept for Eat Dessert First.

It will be held Thursday February 8, 2007 from 6 – 8 p.m. at Rising Sun Banquet Hall on Biggs Highway (Route 274) in Rising Sun.

Eat Dessert First will be two hours of desserts, plus music and a silent auction. Area restaurants, caterers, bakeries, and candy shops have been invited to participate. They will be bringing sample size portions of their best desserts for participants to enjoy. Order forms will be available to obtain these treats for the upcoming Valentine's Day holiday.

These participating businesses will also provide a gift certificate, which will be used for the silent auction. Local school students will provide music, as well as dessert demonstrations. Tickets are being sold $20 in advance, $25 at the door of Rising Sun Banquet Hall.

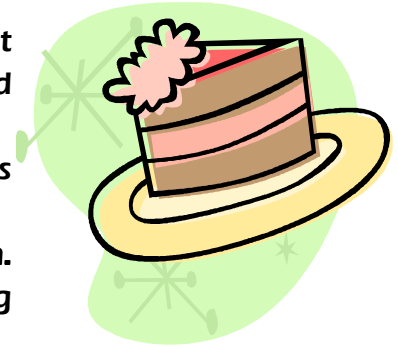

We need everyone to take the tickets to work, to neighbors, family and friends. Volunteers will be needed to help with set up, clean up, and to operate the silent auction. Contact Jane to obtain tickets for sale and to offer your support.

Also, a basket has been placed in the back of the church where you may place your ideas for future fundraisers. This does not mean you must chair that event, although your help would be welcome. Already we have ideas involving Martin's grocery store and Turkey Hill products. Betty Rogers has already spearheaded one such project in which a wonderful watercolor of our church has been turned into notecards. These cards are being sold at the back of the church.

A Family Fun Day, concerts, and other events are also being proposed. No idea is too wacky to be considered. I have been involved in fundraising for more than 20 years so see if you can surprise me. Success will come from having a variety of events, both Christian and secular. It may require some old ideas to be revisited or dismissed. It will definitely magnify the creativity and excitement of this already vibrant congregation.

My personal goal is to raise the lion's share of the money within two years and to be able to burn the mortgage in five.

Answer:

The Riverbank!!!

The Secret of the Snowflakes

Scripture: Isaiah 1:18

What is snow? It is very common in winter. We roll in it, play in it, form balls with it, build forts of it, and, in general we have a rollicking good time in it. But what is it?

Snow is a form of water. In fact, it is a water crystal. The snowdrop is formed by a few drops of water freezing together. When several of the snowdrops cling together, they fall to the earth in a larger, fluffier form which we call a snowflake.

Snow is strangely beautiful and interesting. Have you ever examined a snow crystal closely? Probably not. Usually they disappear so quickly that you cannot catch even a fleeting impression of the shape of snowflakes.

You may be able to see that the flakes are six-sided crystals. And this is part of the secret of the snowflakes – they are all except for a small percentage of cone-shaped crystals, hexagons or six-sided figures. But this is not all; there is even more to the strange mystery. Although the snowflakes are either cones or hexagons, in all the many thousands that have been observed, photographed, and enlarged, NO TWO EXACTLY ALIKE HAVE EVER BEEN FOUND.

Snow is “warm”. Few of us think of it in that way. But it is, for nine-tenths of snow is air. And it is for that reason that snow forms such a perfect warm blanket-like covering over the earth in winter’s coldest weather, protecting the young roots and plants from freezing. Air is one of the best insulators we have. And since snow is nine-tenths air, we can believe that snow is “God’s gift to plant life” in winter.

While we do not think of snow as warm, we do think about it as being very white and clean. When God wanted to tell us about something being pure and clean He had to compare it with something we would understand. God used snow as a comparison in the Old Testament and in the New Testament. From the Book of Isaiah we find, “Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; ...”

God is trying to tell us what we need and what He will be for us. What we need to do is to talk to God about our sins, and if we really want Him to cleanse us He will make our hearts as white as snow.

Youth Rally 2007

The theme for this year's Youth Rally was "Be Amazed". Look to the nations. Watch them and be amazed and shocked. I will do something in your lifetime that you won't believe even when you are told about it. Habakkuk 1:5

What could be better than a weekend at the beach in January with a daytime temperature of 70 degrees, staying at a hotel with your friends, an unlimited source of junk food, and staying awake all night? Meeting the God of the Universe!! That is exactly what happened to many of our youth this Jan. 5-7.

Twenty-six youth, three college students, and five adults from Moore's Chapel had a great weekend in Ocean City. The youth rally has long been the best part of our youth program, it is always worth every penny it costs, but this year there was something more. The change I saw was to draw the attendees both youth and adults closer to God in a real way. There was a greater call to worship. Not just in singing but in prayer, art, and dance. At the end of the weekend there was an opportunity to accept Jesus as Savior and to make a greater commitment to the Christian life. I am honored to report that two of our youth made a first time decision to accept Christ. I do not want to down play this decision in any way it is the most important decision anyone will ever make. The next step that we all know may be even harder than being saved is to go back to our school, work and family and begin to live a Christian life in a real way. What the youth rally continues to do for our youth is to give them the opportunity to say to God and the world that they are ready for the next level. The majority of our youth have said publicly that they are ready to serve God in a real way. As you the members of Moore's Chapel think about areas of service in our church during the coming year do not forget to ask our youth to help. If given the chance our youth are very willing to help in any area. They have great ideas just waiting to take form.

Yours in Jesus the Christ,
Jen Arter
